Supplementary Figure 3. Predictors of detectable BAT based on PET–CT scanning in medical check-up subjects and cancer surveillance patients.

In age- and sex- adjusted multivariate analyses, age, BMI and thyroid glucose uptake in the medical check-up subjects remained significant, while in the cancer surveillance patients BMI remained statistically significant.